Category: other-general

Vonage Engineering Mission: Vonage is the emerging leader in the $100B+ cloud communications platform (CPaaS) market. Customers like Airbnb, Viber, Whatsapp, Snapchat, and many others depend on our APIs and SDKs to connect with their customers all over the world. As businesses continue to shift to a real-time, customer-centric communications model, we are experiencing a time of impressive growth.

About the group

Join our expanding group at Vonage, leading the way in cutting-edge applications. The group owns Vonage's Video Conferencing, Messaging products and APIs and an inhouse, unique backend notification service. You will hear more about it when we meet.

We're a diverse team with a passion for technology and innovation.

Inside the group, career growth is encouraged. Our team leaders and architects started as developers and have grown within the company.

Our office is at the top of Alon Towers Tel-Aviv, with a beautiful inspiring view reflecting our pioneering innovative spirit.

What you will do:

You'll have the opportunity to work on end-to-end projects in either a fullstack or backend role, aligned with your skills and career goals. As a part of your job you will be charged with designing, researching, developing and testing the functional and non-functional areas (Load, HA, Security etc…).

We have a roadmap for the coming years which includes exciting new challenges and products. We design and implement new projects while constantly making sure we support large scales of data and traffic, backward and upward compatibility and more.
