Description

The Wall Street Journal is looking for a versatile, intrepid journalist to be our next news assistant in Israel.

We are looking for a fluent Hebrew speaker who knows Israel inside and out to support our correspondents in pursuit of journalism for our global readership. The news assistant's primary responsibilities will include: summarizing local media accounts; setting up interviews with local subjects for correspondents and translating when necessary; help navigating local government and interfacing with officials in Hebrew; and research assignments.

The successful candidate should ideally have three years of experience working as a journalist in Israel. Arabic language skills will be seen as a plus.

Reasonable accommodation: Dow Jones, Making Careers Newsworthy - We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, pregnancy, age, national origin, disability status, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. EEO/AA/M/F/Disabled/Vets. Dow Jones is committed to providing reasonable accommodation for qualified individuals with disabilities, in our job application and/or interview process.
