Company: Firebolt

Location: Tel Aviv-Yafo

Category: other-general

Who we are:

Firebolt is at the forefront of data analytics, offering cutting-edge cloud data warehouse solutions. Our innovative technology is designed to handle the most complex data challenges, providing unmatched speed and efficiency. Join us in our mission to revolutionize data analytics and help businesses unlock the full potential of their data.

About the Team:

Firebolt's Metadata Team is responsible for components within the data warehouse that provide metadata information for firebolt control & dataplane. Aside from "user data", Firebolt keeps meta-information to make user data accessible and useful. The challenge of the Metadata team is to hold this data and serve it with low latency in an ACID compliant way. We're solving challenges around high scalability, concurrency and performance, like implementing distributed transactions and snapshot isolation.

Roles and Responsibilities:

Take part in the definition of Firebolt's product design and architecture

Design, build, and maintain Firebolt's cutting-edge metadata solution

Work closely with other Firebolt teams to provide a seamless data experience

3+ years as a backend engineer with at least 1.5 year using Go in production

Production experience with Kubernetes, including using open source solutions from the eco-system

Hands on experience in building and operating cloud native applications on AWS, GCP or Azure

Strong Linux fundamentals and an understanding of networking, including a variety of network protocols, especially AWS networking

Experience building and operating highly concurrent, highly available, and fault-tolerant distributed systems

Expertise in Algorithms, Data Structures, Concurrency and Design Patterns

A bonus if you have:

Familiarity with databases such as FoundationDB, Aerospike or any high-performance KV-store

Familiarity with distributed computing, networking, lockless algorithms and data structures

Experience with message brokers and data/stream processing (Kafka, RabbitMQ)
